Financial Trouble in Denver at an End.

COTTON MILLS CLOSING.

Industrial Distress Not Confined to Colorado—Penniless Colorado Emigrants Capture a Burlington Train.

Denver, July 20.—There will be no more bank failures in Denver. The panic wore itself out yesterday with the [illegible] of the Peoples, German and State national banks. This morning when the First, Colorado, Denver, City and [illegible] opened their doors there was hardly a dozen customers in all of them at the paying tellers' windows. In the [illegible] Colorado and Denver nationals, a long string of depositors, reaching [illegible] to the street, were lined up in front of the receiving tellers' windows [illegible] the money was going back into the [illegible] vaults almost as rapidly as it was withdrawn during the past three days. [illegible] State and Peoples could [illegible] three dollars for one could they re[illegible] their securities. There may be [illegible] commercial failures in the city [illegible] the next few days as a result of [illegible] suspension of the banks, but it is [illegible] that in no instance whether a [illegible] or commercial house will the [illegible] be complete. A resumption of [illegible] will surely follow shortly.

[illegible] FROM [illegible]

A Washington special to The Times says: Comptroller of the Currency [illegible] sent an important dis[illegible] to National Bank Examiner Frank [illegible] Denver, saying:

I wish you would announce to the of[illegible] the banks which have failed in [illegible] that it is my intention to lend [illegible] every possible looking toward [illegible] resumption on their part, and I [illegible] grant to them sufficient time [illegible] to not only call in such [illegible] as are speedily collectable, but to [illegible] such amounts of money as [illegible] enable them to open on a sound [illegible]

The comptroller also announced to [illegible] Adams that he has ordered [illegible] McHugh of Iowa and Exam[illegible] to report at once to him, [illegible] to express more fully his [illegible] condition of affairs. Mr. [illegible] said the failure in Denver yes[illegible] number of other national [illegible] were caused by no fault of [illegible] but through a foolish [illegible] lack of confidence on [illegible] depositors.

Boiler Makers Strike.

St. Louis, July 20.—For some reason [illegible] boilermakers, who had selected [illegible] work with ten hours' pay, con[illegible] to bring matters to a head to-day [illegible] the demand was made at noon. It [illegible] about one thousand of them [illegible] on a strike. They are well organ[illegible] have a large fund and declare they will not yield an inch. The bosses are equally determined and a long struggle is looked for. There is a strong probability that the trouble in the [illegible] will be settled amicably. A number of non union carpenters went out to-day.

BUSINESS MEN WANTED.

Denver, July 20.—The Denver Chamber of Commerce held an important meeting this afternoon. It was decided in view of the recent troubles in financial and business circles in this city that the interests of Colorado demanded that the State be represented at the Bimetallic League conventions in Chicago and Washington by business men who would place the State before the country in a proper light and repudiate any incendiary utterances which may be made in that convention by delegates from this State.

President Byers was instructed to name a committee of 100 comprised of the leading business and financial men of the city to go to Chicago and Washington and defend the credit of the State, while at the same time they shall do all in their power to further the interests of silver.

MUST GO EAST.

Penniless Miners Take Possession of a Burlington Train.

Hastings, Neb., July 20.—An instance of the deplorable condition of affairs in Colorado, so far as workingmen are concerned, as a result of shutting down of silver mines, was shown here this evening when nearly a hundred starving men took forcible possession of a train and demanded that the company carry them east. At 5 p. m. a freight arriving from the west brought in seventy or eighty men ordinarily designated as tramps, but in fact there could hardly have been found a half dozen professional bums in the lot. Some thirty five or forty of the men boarded an eastbound train with the intention of continuing their journey, but the depot policeman ordered them off, but they refused, and made the officer put up his gun.

To the United Press reporter they stated that they were men who had been thrown out of work in Colorado and were compelled to go some place. Some of them were trying to get to friends in the East. They had cards from different trades unions in support of the statement that they were laborers and honest men. The depot officer appealed to the city authorities and a squad of police went down but refused to take any action. The men stuck to their places on the train and the train stayed where it was. The train was finally backed down into the yard and Road master McFarland held a parley with them. As a result they quitted the train and organizing in convention style, appointed a committee of three to ask the Burlington and Missouri officials to provide them with transportation to Omaha. This was done.

In the meantime Hastings people provided the men with several hundred loaves of bread and cans of butter which were devoured with the rapacity of savage beasts. Any attempt at force would have resulted in bloodshed, as the men are terribly determined. It is said that between two and three hundred more will be here to-morrow.

When the superintendent was notified he directed the night yardmaster at Lincoln to make up a special train of empty box cars and accommodate everybody who cared to ride. The train will be run as far as the Iowa line.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Heavy Loss of Property in Long Island City.

New York, July 21.—At 12:30 this morning fire started in the block bounded by Fourth and Fifth streets and Jackson and Vernon avenues, Long Island City. In the block are St. Mary's new Catholic church valued at $200,000, the parish house, the new parochial school and a number of business blocks. The flames jumped across Fifth street to a row of flat houses at the corner of Vernon avenue. Then the fire caught in the flat house in the rear of those on Fifth street. There was no water to be had and the greatest excitement prevailed as the fire burned with increased fury. Help came from Newton Creek, but at 1 o'clock the flames were still rapidly spreading.

At 1:30 o'clock the church and all the buildings in the block had been destroyed and the fire continued to spread to the other blocks in the vicinity. At 2 o'clock the fire is still burning though under control. Among the buildings destroyed were the refrigerator factory, St. Martin's school and three blocks of tenement houses. The loss will reach $300,000.

Gingham Mills to be Closed.

Portland, Me., July 20.—At a directors' meeting to-day it was decided to shut down the mills of the Westbrook Manufacturing company, makers of ginghams, from July 26 to Sept. 1. There are three reasons that unite to cause the [illegible] The goods now being manufactured cannot be sold until October and no money can be realized on them until next spring, it is not deemed advisable to pile up goods, and the mills have been in operation thirty years without a shut down. Some repairs are necessary.

Mills Ordered Closed.

Milton Mills, N. Y., July 20.—The agent of the Waumbeck company has [illegible] the mills here for six months, as soon as the goods now in process of manufacture are finished. The reason assigned for this action is a lack of orders, except at ruinous prices. The shut-down will be a serious blow to many employees who are dependent upon their earnings in these mills for a support.

Russia Will Aid France.

Paris, July 20.—The statement is published that Baron Mohrenheim, the Russian ambassador to France, officially informed the French government prior to the session of the Chamber of Deputies on Tuesday last, when M. Develle, the foreign minister, defined France's position in the Franco-Siamese dispute, that Russia would support France on all the points involved in the difficulty. It is further said that the Russian fleet in Chinese waters is under orders to proceed to the Gulf of Siam for the purpose of supporting the French and of protecting the French residents in Siam. The fleet is expected to shortly arrive in Siamese waters.

Home Rule Progress.

London, July 20.—The last eleven clauses of the Home Rule bill were brought through the committee stage this evening. There was a total lack of excitement throughout the evening. The next work in the House of Commons will be the consideration of the postponed financial clauses 15, 16 and 17 of the new [illegible] programme will be closured one week from to-night.

Cutting Expenses.

Elkhart, Ind., July 20.—The Lake Shore and Michigan laid off 100 employees to-day to reduce expenses.

A MINERS' BATTLE

SEVERAL WERE WOUNDED.

Workingmen Defend Their Right to Labor—Strikers Counselled by State Officers. More Trouble Is Expected Soon.

Weir City, Kan., July 20.—The expected crisis has come in the Kansas miners' strike. Miners who were willing to work quietly and peaceably have been attacked by the strikers and blood has been shed.

The feeling which has been growing more and more bitter for several days culminated to-day in a fierce battle at Clement's pit, one mile south of this city. All the forenoon there were mutterings of the approaching storm and the feeling was universal that serious trouble was at hand. Just before noon a band of 500 strikers headed by 100 women, which had been marching to the various strip pits, reached Clement's pit and in a committee tried to persuade the miners working there to quit. This they refused to do and when the committee reported the entire body of marchers moved on to the works to force the men out.

The "strip" men were ready for them and when they had passed the trespass line they were fired upon and a general battle ensued, in which Winchester rifles, pistols and clubs were used. Over one hundred shots were fired and it is nothing short of a miracle that nobody was killed. One man was wounded in the forehead, another in the leg, a boy was shot in the foot and one of the women got a bullet through her arm. None of the wounds are fatal and it is believed that none of them are dangerous. A number on both sides were beaten with clubs and clubbed guns.

As a result of the battle the men in the "strip" pit were routed by the strikers and were forced to flee for their lives, pursued by the howling mob which would have lynched them had been caught.

There is an enclosure around the pit which was broken into by the strikers. The owner of the strip, Clements, his [illegible] a man named Big Dick Reed are said to be the ones who did the shooting, and they have given themselves up and were run out of the county for safe keeping. The excitement was intense after the shooting and it was feared that matters would become worse, but a prominent striker, George R. Fulton, made the crowd a speech in which he advised them to keep cool and counselled peace. It is rumored that a quantity of fire-arms have been received here to-night. The excitement is still at fever heat and there is every probability that a further demonstration will be made during the night.

EXCITEMENT AT PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, Kan., July 20.—The miners in this vicinity are in a state of intense excitement to-night over the wounding of four of their number at Weir City this afternoon. Many express the opinion that this is but a starter and will result in more bloodshed. That they are more wrought up now than at any time during the strike is certain and there is no telling what the end will be.

A meeting of miners [illegible] men is called for to-morrow in Henry's hall in this city, when it is expected that a number [illegible] miners will be present from the lower part of the district and it is almost certain that something [illegible] will be decided upon regarding the matter of work.

A telegram was received at the miners' headquarters to-day stating that Assistant Attorney-General Clark will arrive in Pittsburg to-night to afford the miners all the legal protection to which they may be entitled.

No attempt was made to disturb the "strip" pits in the neighborhood of Pittsburg to-day. Those operated by Beck, Neasley & Lanyon are running the same as usual. The stockade around the Kansas and Texas shaft No. 22 at Litchfield, is about one-third completed and the men are working night and day upon it.

Considerable uneasiness was felt at Lee's pit last night from the fact that a number of men marched up and down the road there shouting and firing guns. No other demonstration was made. Miners, having provided themselves with guns, it is feared that to-day's eruption at Weir City will result in a collision here.

KANSAS BIMETALLISTS.

Populists Capture the State Convention at Topeka.

Topeka, Kan., July 20.—The Bimetallic State convention assembled in Representative hall at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There were present 300 men and women including delegates and spectators. Nearly all of those who qualified as members of the convention were Populist, Ex-Governor Osborne of this city, a Republican, was chosen as permanent chairman. All of the other officers of the convention were chosen from the Populist ranks and with one or two exceptions the committee appointed by the temporary chairman were members of the People's party. Congressman Bryan of Nebraska was the only one of the invited guests from outside of the State who put in an appearance, and he attracted a large crowd at the evening session.

At the afternoon session free coinage speeches were made by ex-Attorney-General John N. Ives and Congressman John Davis, both Populists. The committee on resolutions was guided in its work by Congressman Bryan who prepared them. The address preceding the resolution declared in favor of the gold and silver money of the constitution.

It then made a hit at Secretary Carlisle as follows: "We endorse the opinion expressed by Hon. John G. Carlisle in 1878 that the movement to totally demonetize silver is a stupendous conspiracy, conceived by the moneyed interests of all countries to increase the value of one half of the world's metallic money by destroying the other half. We further agree with the Secretary of the Treasury in the then expressed opinion that the successful consummation of that conspiracy would be more disastrous to the people of this world than war, pestilence and famine."

The resolutions declare opposition to a universal gold standard because the gold coin of the world would not afford a [illegible] to the needs of commerce. They express belief that an international agreement for the coinage of both gold and silver at a fixed ratio is not necessary. The action of eastern States is denounced as selfish and inconsistent. In conclusion the following resolution was adopted:

"R[illegible] ators and representatives that they oppose the repeal of the Sherman law of July 14, 1890, except by the adoption of a law placing silver back where it was prior to its demonetization in 1873. We denounce it as inconsistent with sound public policy to confer or advise directly or indirectly with any foreign nation as to what the money or currency of the United States should be."

The adoption of the resolutions was followed by a speech by their author, Congressman Bryan.

ENGLISH CABINET MEETING.

London, July 20.—A special Cabinet meeting was summoned in Downing street this afternoon. There was a full attendance. France's demands on Siam were discussed at length and eventually instructions for Lord Dufferin were formulated and approved. Immediately after the meeting the Earl of Rosebery, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, communicated with the Admiralty as regards the disposition of the fleet in Asiatic waters. Late in the afternoon special orders were dispatched by the Admiralty to Vice-Admiral Freeman, commander-in chief of the Chinese division fleet. These facts together with the cancellation of Lord Dufferin's leave of absence, are regarded as hardly in harmony with the official predictions of a perfectly amicable settlement with France of the Siamese difficulty. Even if not alarmed by the course of France, the government is believed to realize the Siamese affair is fraught with most serious possibilities for which immediate preparations must be made by Great Britain.

New York Stock Market.

New York, July 20.—Money on call has been easy, ranging from 2 to 6, last loan at 2, and closing offered at 2.

The sales of silver at the Stock Exchange were 10,000 ounces at 70.

The sterling exchange market was heavier and lower, posted rates having been reduced to 4.82@4.84½, a reduction of 1½ cents since Tuesday. There is a good supply of security and commercial bills, the result of large purchases of stocks for London account and the heavy exports of grain, flax and other products. The demoralization in rates has started up talk about heavy imports of gold by Saturday's European steamers. As yet no actual engagement have been announced. Foreign firms agree that gold will come this way shortly, as exchange is almost at a rate permitting the importation of sovereigns. There is not much gold offering in the open market in London. If money here settles down to 4.75 per cent and sterling exchange remains as it is, gold could be imported immediately at a profit. Money on call remains 3@6 per cent. Time loans and prime mercantile paper are unchanged. Of course there is a little doing all the time, but at best the supply of money is small.

The sub-treasury has paid out to-day $290,000 in small bills in exchange for notes of large denominations. The money goes principally to the West. The sub-treasury paid in gold $140,000 of its debit balance of $451,071 at the clearing house. So far to-day the clearing house loan committee have issued $[illegible] certificates and cancelled $50,000.

The stock market under the influence of a sharp rise in quotation in London and liberal buying orders from that center opened strong and improved to the extent of ½ to 3½ per cent. The rise was checked by a sudden break of 3½ per cent in General Electric to 51⅞, but it was noticeable that the market was comparatively free from those sudden relapses which have occurred day after day for some time past. Even when General Electric broke another 5 points to 46¾ under a heavy pressure and all sorts of rumors were in circulation concerning the financial condition of the company the [illegible] was by no means large. The ease in money on call, the moderate importations of gold and the increasing exports of grain exercised a favorable influence on the market. The buying of fractional lots of stocks for investment continues and the transfer offices of the leading railroad corporations are kept busy in breaking up full lots into certificates for odd lots. There was a brisk borrowing demand for Rock Island, Burlington, Louisville and Nashville, General Electric and other active shares, some of which commanded a premium.

Exchange on London 4.81½@4.82½; sight drafts, 4.83¾@4.84. Bar silver 70½.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

CAUSED BY LACK OF CASH.

Yesterday morning the J. B. Wheeler Banks of Colorado City and Manitou did not open for business and at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon made assignments. The assignee of the Manitou bank is Mr. J. B. Glasser, cashier of the [illegible] at the Colorado City bank Mr. B. Harris Jewett, cashier, is also named as assignee. The suspension at Manitou is only temporary, as the bank was doing a good business and it is hoped that it can be opened in the next few days. At Colorado City it is believed that the bank will be able to settle its business very soon and pay out dollar for dollar. Both banks were organized under the State laws and each was capitalized for [illegible]

The failures were owing to want of available funds on hand to meet an anticipated run yesterday owing to the failure of the J. B. Wheeler bank at Aspen the day before. The failure of the Aspen bank was most unexpected. The manager of Mr. Wheeler's mine at Aspen most unexpectedly drew out $10,000 that he had deposited and precipitated the crash. The managers of the institutions at Manitou and Colorado City saw that a run would likely be made yesterday and as they were not ready to meet it, closed their doors. It was not decided to close the Manitou bank until ten minutes before opening time yesterday morning as relief funds were expected from New York. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. Glasser received a telegram stating that the money was ready for transportation and had this come in the morning the bank would not have been closed as he had money enough to have weathered a short run. There was little excitement among depositors at either place and depositors discussed the state of affairs in a quiet way.

The assets of the Manitou bank are over $114,000 and the liabilities about $75,000. Mr. Wheeler's personal deposit at the bank was $31,000 so that the actual liabilities are but $44,000, and the securities for money loaned out are said to be gilt-edge.

Following is the schedule as filed for record with the county clerk:

RESOURCES.

Loans and discounts	[illegible]
Overdrafts	[illegible]
Manitou town warrants	[illegible]
Time checks	[illegible]
Furniture and fixtures	[illegible]
Due from Union bank, Denver	[illegible]
Due from First National bank, Colorado Springs	[illegible]
Due from Wheeler [illegible]	[illegible]

Cash on hand	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

LIABILITIES.

Individual deposits subject to check	[illegible]
Demand certificates of deposit	[illegible]
Time certificates	[illegible]
Rediscounted bills	[illegible]
Certified checks	[illegible]
Due Chemical Bank of New York	[illegible]
Due Colorado National Bank of Denver	[illegible]
Due J. B. Wheeler & Co., Manitou	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

The Colorado City bank was not a very heavy affair and it is believed will come out all right in a short time. The schedules filed with the clerk did not give the total of the amount of the deposits and loans. There are bills payable to the amount of about $7,000 and most of this is said to be first class. The schedules show that the Ute Pass Paint works, the Manitou Mineral Water company and the Colorado City Glass works are all heavy debtors. The schedules also apparently show that the bank held Mr. Wheeler's note for $5,000 and that he had deposited against this $10,000.

It is not believed that any of the enterprises in this vicinity in which Mr. Wheeler was interested will be affected by the suspending of the banks. But a very small part of Mr. Wheeler's wealth entered into his banking arrangements in this part of the country.

The Colorado State bank at Colorado City did not have a run yesterday as many feared might be the case. It is solvent and in good shape, and people of Colorado City apparently know it. Mr. Smith, the cashier had some figuring done yesterday and found that he had money enough to stand a run by every person with money in the bank who was likely to get frightened. His heaviest depositors and the only ones who could do the bank any injury are the officers, so that he has a smiling countenance.

In this city there was some comment on the situation, but no one was worrying apparently. Every bank in this city opened, more new accounts yesterday than they closed old ones, and the deposits exceeded the withdrawals. Many people who had money in Denver and outside places are bringing it home for deposit where it will be safe. The foolish people who withdrew their money in Denver are evidently finding it hard to care for as they are rushing to put it in the banks that weathered the storm. The First National of Denver telephoned the First National here last evening that they opened over one hundred new accounts yesterday, and goodness knows how many deposit slips were taken out for which accounts were not opened.

HELP THE NEEDY.

Some System of Organized Charity Needed.

It is not to be denied that there are a great many men begging in and about the city. They visit the houses on the outskirts of the city and stand on the streets. Many of these do not appear to be the regulation tramps. A gentleman stated yesterday that he was asked to supply food four or five times at one of the depots yesterday morning, and by decent looking men.

A story came to The Gazette yesterday to the effect that three men met on one of the principal streets of the city and found that they had pennies enough between them to buy a loaf of bread, that they stopped a bread wagon, purchased a loaf and eagerly devoured it. They were said to be residents of the southern part of the city and declared that their families were destitute and suffering. Cases of this [illegible] Springs Aid Society. The society has a small fund and its object is to aid families who are destitute in this city. Its object primarily is to assist women and children who are sick and distressed, but it requires that they be of our own people. It has no way in which to aid [illegible]

Our police will provide a meal for any poor man who seems worthy. It has been suggested that some organized steps be taken to help men who are hungry to a meal. It is not pleasant to have your house besieged by people begging and yet there is probably not a man or woman in this city who would not divide his last penny rather than know that there was a hungry person here about. Something could be done to give these people a meal or two and send them on their way.

BETRAYED HIS TRUST.

The Foreman of the Gardens Ranch Turns Criminal.

Isaac Seeley, foreman at the Colorado Springs Gardens ranch is now in the city jail awaiting examination upon several criminal charges. His downfall is due to a long fast pace and an ambition to win all the money in a faro bank. A day or two ago a young man employed at the ranch gave Seeley $25 to put in the safe at the ranch for safe keeping and took his receipt for it. This money Seeley blew in at Colorado City and Manitou. The boss [illegible] of the ranch company gave Seeley the checks to pay off the men. These he took and forged the signatures of the men to them and got the money. There were about twenty of these checks and about twelve of the forgeries have turned up. Seeley also gave worthless checks at a Colorado City saloon made out in his own name, which were cashed. By his crooked ways he has secured several hundred dollars.

The matter coming to the attention of Marshal Dana yesterday Officer Atkinson went to Manitou where he found Seeley in a saloon and placed him under arrest. All of the money has disappeared, having been gambled away. Seeley is about 25 years of age and has a wife and two children living at the ranch.

The Tennessee Jubilee singers will give an entertainment at the Congregational Church on Monday evening. Miss Jennie Cash, the famous songstress, is with the company.

The water commissioner has been ordered to enforce the ordinance in reference to wasting water. Owing to this reckless waste the pressure is very much reduced. The supply is sufficient for a city of four times the size of Manitou if judiciously used.

Five Colorado Springs boys, Willie Casser, Andrew McCurdy, John Chaney, James Sherrod and Willie Cassidy, walked to the Peak Wednesday night. On their way back next morning at Windy Point they placed a handcar on the Cog-wheel track in order to make better time. The car was soon going at too great a speed to please even the fancy of the venturesome boys so they all jumped and the car presently in going around a curve performed the same feat and was badly demolished. Marshall Ellerick gathered the boys in and notified their parents.

THE PRESENT STATUS OF THE HOME RULE BILL.

Since the introduction of the Home Rule bill in the House of Commons there have been some very important modifications of it. The most important of all is the complete change in the famous clause nine. As originally introduced, this clause fixed the number of Irish members in the Imperial Parliament at 80—the present number. They were to be allowed to vote on Imperial questions only—not on questions affecting only Great Britain.

When the clause came up for discussion, it was urged that on the basis of population Ireland is entitled, not to 103, but only to 80 members of Parliament. Mr. Gladstone acknowledged the force [illegible] rebellion [illegible] and the following voted for the clause when they found out that the Unionists wanted them to vote against it, and the amendment was adopted.

A more important change than the reduction of the number of Irish members is the vast extension of their power. According to the clause as it now stands, the eighty Irish members are to vote on all questions, imperial and local. Ireland is to have her own legislature and be governed entirely by that in local affairs; but the local affairs of England, Wales and Scotland are to be governed by a Parliament eighty of whose members are Irish. Mr. Gladstone's present majority, with 103 Irish members, is about thirty. With eighty Irish members his majority would be half a dozen. In England, Scotland and Wales he is in a minority of from fifty to seventy. Yet he proposes to conduct the local legislation for Great Britain by means of a majority composed so largely of Irishmen that if they were subtracted from his force, and British affairs were conducted by British members only, he would have an overwhelming majority against him.

Such a scheme may be Home Rule for Ireland, but it certainly is not Home Rule for Great Britain; it is Irish rule.

To illustrate the case, suppose that the States of Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Utah constituted an independent government. Suppose that each sent a number of members in proportion to population to a common legislature. Suppose a bill to be brought forward, providing that Utah, being a troublesome State and having peculiar institutions of its own, should have a separate legislature, to which should be committed the power of dealing with all local questions, and providing also that the Utah members of the general legislature should vote on all local questions concerning Colorado, Montana and Wyoming. Suppose further that this measure was carried through the general legislature by a majority one-third of which consisted of Utah members. It is safe to say that the people of Colorado would resist any such measure; and we do not think the English people are so different from our own that they are likely to approve it. However, that is a matter for them to settle. If they acquiesce in Mr. Gladstone's scheme, it will be one of the most peculiar governments the world has ever seen.

DELEGATES TO CHICAGO.

The Denver Chamber of Commerce is considering the advisability of sending to the Chicago Bimetallic convention which is to meet August 1, delegates [illegible] interests of the city. It is acknowledged on all hands that the majority of the delegates appointed by the recent Silver convention do not so represent the business interests, and the Denver Republican thinks that further delegates should be appointed.

If all the localities which are to be represented at Chicago would take similar action, the convention of August 1 would contain a body of sensible men who could at least protest against the [illegible] of any revolutionary or inflammatory resolutions; and if there were enough of them to control the convention they might issue an address that would have [illegible] Congress. At present it seems probable that the convention will be controlled by the Populist, tenderfoot. If the Denver Chamber of Commerce, by acting in conjunction with similar bodies in other cities, can prevent such an outcome, it [illegible]

[illegible] of the [illegible] of Governor Waite's [illegible] [illegible] to a letter to an Eastern correspondent about [illegible]

In regard to the [illegible] in Colorado [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] The amount of money which Governor Waite has kept out of the State by his speeches during the past month is [illegible]

[illegible] in the Post Office Department at Washington [illegible] It has also been made [illegible] by Secretary Hoke Smith [illegible] of civil service examinations for promotion in the Interior Department.

It is amusing to feel that Attorney General Little of Kansas is examining the law to find out whether railways have a right to own coal mines. Everybody knows that in the Populist view, railways have no rights at all.

Arty and his anarchist militia are doing their worst to precipitate an armed conflict in Kansas. They are on the side of the Hungarian and Bohemian strikers, and against the American citizens who want to go to work.

The large shipments of silver to Europe seem to indicate both that silver has some little intrinsic value, aside from the mint-mark, and that European buyers think it is about as low as it is going to be.

Let us hope that Governor Waite will get an offer while he is East to take the Presidency of [illegible] Trust company at a salary of $50,000 a year. His gain would be our loss, but we would try to bear up under it.

We trust Mr. Thomas M. Patterson is pleased with the results in Denver of his "calamity howl." Nobody else appears to enjoy them much.

Denver Eloquence.

In Denver there is no need of artificial stimulation, for every whiff of the air is equivalent to two champagne cocktails and a pousse café. Any Denver orator who is not unusually strong-headed is liable to become inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity before he knows it. He breathes in the intoxication of the ether, and out of the abundance of that atmospheric spree the mouth speaketh. The man is like the priestess of Delphi; the fumes mount to the brain, and he speaks he knows not what. Does anybody suppose that the Rev. Myron W. Reed, the eminent Denver theologian and politician, would consciously express a wish to have Congressmen who vote against silver grilled at the stake? The air got to his head; that's all. So, Governor Waite is undoubtedly a man of peace. Very probably he cannot ride at all, or if he can, will not ride through mud to the horse's knees without alarm. We have every reason, too, to believe that he is a vegetarian and loathes the sight and name of blood; but the confounded rarefied air leads him a mad dance, and in the frenzy of it he speaks vain and [illegible] words.—New York Sun.

Asheville Amusements.

An interesting contest took place between John Baird and Will Sabin, two Asheville boys, yesterday afternoon at Allen's fruit stand on Patton avenue. The conditions were that the one who should eat the greatest number of bananas was to be winner, and he who [illegible] After half an hour's contest the score stood 25 and a bite to 21 good sized bananas in favor of John Baird.—Asheville Citizen.

To Improve Our Consular Service.

The consular service should be made more homogeneous. As at present constituted there is no general supervision over the different consulates in the several countries. They should all be made subservient to the consul general, or even letter, as in the English service, to the minister accredited to the country in which they [illegible] to the legation, some to the consul general and others direct to the department of state. It is recognized that this custom arose partly to procure quicker mail facilities, but in many instances postal service has been improved lately, and the cable and telegraph can be used for emergencies.

The consuls-general could be dispensed with, or if retained, should pay annual visits to the different posts in their districts, a duty at present only permitted in some countries once a year and by special permission on application to the department. A novel feature might be substituted to increase the efficiency of the consular service in the institution of several superintendents, whose duty it would be to visit the various consulates and inform the department in relation to their true state, such as the proper location of the office, the state of the records, the correctness of accounts, as well as to ferret out abuses and inquire into any charge of misconduct, all of which can only be done by personal inspection. Owing to their remoteness consuls are less under the eye of the appointing power and the espionage of the public press than any class of public officials.—North American Review.

THE VICE OF GREGARIOUSNESS.

In the heart of a crowded city, in the busy month of August, I dined once with a woman whom I had known some years before as a dweller at one of the most beautiful inland homes in what is perhaps the most beautiful county of New England. She told me that she had sold all the fine rooms of a big rambling house of [illegible] square [illegible] of the [illegible] and [illegible] the doors and there [illegible]

[illegible] that, madam, I could not help exclaiming in surprise, how you must pine for it sometimes. "Why, the folks would all [illegible] me to come up and visit them in summer, but I couldn't bear to leave the city. An I [illegible] to tell you [illegible] the sense of [illegible] [illegible]

When I heard this I [illegible] [illegible]

Many proofs of this statement will at once occur to the reader—the railroad cars in which we travel, the apartments in which we live, the continual exodus from the farm to the town and from the village to the city, the form which our amusements take, and above all, the immense development of clubs. Almost every function of modern life is discharged through the medium of a club. To dine in a crowd, to be charitable in a crowd, to go out in a crowd to view the face of nature, and, perhaps, greatest absurdity of all, to [illegible] in a crowd—such are the ambitions of a typical American.

A relative that there are in existence societies of drunkards, not for legitimate purposes of conviviality, but with the weak intention of [illegible] in a body. There is certainly a club of persons whose bond of union is a desire to free themselves from the dreadful vice of procrastination, and I have somewhere seen [illegible] of "Rest Classes" at the seashore for clergymen and school teachers. There are immense summer towns or camps-meetings, where people are herded together almost as closely as the occupants of a tenement house in the city, and this for pleasure.—H. C. Merwin, Atlantic.

Five Kinds of Paper Money.

"How many kinds of money are there?" repeated Assistant Treasurer Sam Bailey when asked the question. "Five, and if you'll wait an instant I'll show you some [illegible] of them all."

Returning with five crisp bills, he unfolded the first at random and held it up for inspection. "That's a United States treasury note or greenback, the government's note of hand, legal tender at its face value in payment of [illegible] [illegible]

"Here's a [illegible] note. That represents 20 gold dollars deposited in the United States treasury. Gold cannot be legally paid out for any other form of paper money. The silver certificate represents so many dollars deposited in the treasury. Gold cannot be claimed upon it. The coin certificate is not, as many think, payable in gold or silver. It [illegible] coined earlier, and under the bullion purchase act of 1890, and is payable only in silver. If it all were demanded for it, I should be obliged to refuse. The fifth kind of paper money is the national bank note. It displaced the old state bank notes and is secured by United States bonds purchased by the bank issuing it and deposited with the United States treasurer. It is legal tender for all debts, public and private, except interest on the public debt and customs duties. All these moneys are, I believe, issued in all denominations, from $1 up, except the gold certificate, which is not issued for sums under $20."—Cincinnati Tribune.

A Noted Singer In Society.

Catalani, a gifted songstress and a lovely woman, was the idol of society and the favorite of fortune. But she had neither knowledge nor culture, and her ignorance sometimes made her stumble into ludicrous mistakes. One of her greatest triumphs in London was the singing of "God Save the King." The town went mad over her rendering of the national anthem. Two hundred guineas were paid her for singing it once. But she always sang it "God shave the King."

At the court of Saxe-Weimar she noticed the marked attention paid to a gentleman of majestic appearance.

"Who is that?" she asked.

"That, madam, is the celebrated Goethe," was the reply.

"Goethe—Goethe?" asked the puzzled singer, to whom music was the only profession that brought celebrity. "On what [illegible]

"Oh, yes, I remember."

Then, abruptly addressing the great man, she said with fascinating vivacity: "Oh, sir, what an admirer I am of Werther!"

Goethe, always sensitive to woman's praise, bowed profoundly.

"I never," she continued, "saw anything so laughable in my life. What a capital farce it is!"

"The 'Sorrows of Werther' a farce, madam!" exclaimed the poet coldly, annoyed that the most sentimental of his books should be thus [illegible]

"Oh, yes," added Catalani, laughing loudly, "never was there anything so ridiculous."

She was referring to a burlesque of the story, which she had seen acted. Goethe did not recover himself for the whole evening.—Youth's Companion.

A Story of a Princess.

An interesting story is told of Princess May. Accompanied by a chaperon, she was driving along a quiet lane near Hammersmith, when they encountered a costermonger whose cart, loaded with fruit and vegetables, stood in the road, while he was [illegible] beating his miserable, half starved donkey.

The princess gently remonstrated with the man, but his only reply was oaths and a shower of vindictive blows on the poor beast's back. She ordered her footman to take the club from him, on which the costermonger shouted for a policeman and insisted that the footman and "the woman" should both be arrested [illegible] his mistress for "aiding and abetting" him. The officer, recognizing her, saluted the princess, on which the terrified coster in utter confusion, and fright fell on his knees, crying: "Ave mercy, your highness. Jack's been a good friend, as I've served him bad, but I'll never raise stick to him again if you'll let me off this time."

"[illegible] his donkey," said the [illegible] young lady.

Taking out her pocketbook she insisted that the man should sell her the miserable animal, and ordered it to be taken to the park at Richmond, at the same time assur[illegible]

RELICS OF COLUMBUS.

WHAT IS TO BE SEEN IN LA RABIDA CONVENT.

Captain Concas of the Caravels Something to Surprise Him When He Landed at the World's Columbian Exposition—Chart Showing the Course Followed by Erikson.

WORLD'S FAIR, July 19.—[Special.]—When Captain Concas, commander of the caravels, landed at the exposition a week or so ago great was his surprise to find here a reproduction of the famous Convent of La Rabida. As he drew near the shores of the White City and saw the dull gray walls of the old pile rising from the rocks at the water's edge, he says it seemed to him as if some magic had boldly lifted the ancient monastery and set it down here in the midst of the highest manifestations of modern civilization. If Captain Concas was surprised and delighted with the exterior of the convent, what must have been his amazement when he passed through the dingy doors of dark wood and stood within the gloomy interiors. There he found instead of the cold severity of monastical life such a museum of Columbian relics, pictures and manuscripts as no other country in the world possesses. Not Italy which gave birth to the discoverer, nor Spain which sent him on his momentous voyage, has amassed within its borders a collection of Columbiana worthy comparison with that which these old walls hold. It remained for America and the exposition given in the navigator's honor to present under one roof a graphic history of the man and the event which together filled the greatest and momentous page in all human records.

This Convent of Rabida, with its wealth of relics of the career and voyages of Columbus, has proved one of the most attractive features of the exposition. All day long streams of people pour in and out the low, square doors, and justice each ... are so many things to rouse their interest and their admiration. Foreign visitors are particularly delighted with it. There the Duke of Veragua spent half his time while at the exposition, and there the Princess Eulalia passed many hours. Captain Concas, too, is enthusiastic in his praise for the happy manner in which this exceedingly happy idea has been carried out. Credit for all this must be given William Eleroy Curtis, who as chief of the Latin-American department of the exposition had full charge of its preparation. Indeed, the idea itself was his, and with what energy, skill and success he performed his work the result is ample witness.

To write the story of the convent is to write the history of Christopher Columbus and his voyages to the western world. Nothing that is known in connection with the life of that man is absent from these walls. Everything authentic pertaining to the history of the discovery of America is shown here in one way or another. Even Captain Andersen, commander of the Viking ship, was not disappointed when he visited the convent, the history of which dates back to the era of those Norsemen whose supposed achievements he has crossed the ocean in his strange craft to celebrate. For with unexpected impartiality this museum of the history of discovery, though intended principally to glorify Columbus, shows by the aid of graphic art all that is known or believed of the discovery of this continent by Leif Erikson and his fellow voyagers.

There is here a model of a Viking ship such as Erikson is supposed to have used in his voyage to America, and of it Mr. Curtis says: "It is not improbable that the Norsemen cruised along the coast of North America centuries before Columbus was born, but their claim to discovery of the continent rests entirely upon tradition, poetic legends, and some slight circumstantial evidence."

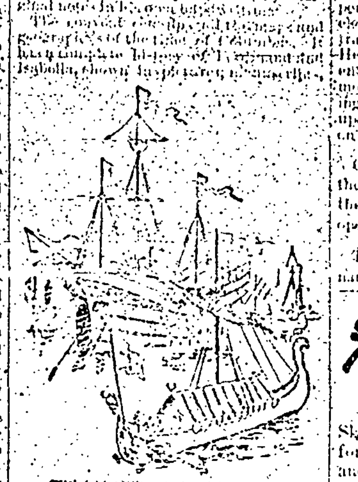

Since the presence in the harbor of the World's fair, anchored within pistol shot of each other, the three Columbus caravels and the Viking ship from Norway, has revived interest in the question whether or not the Norsemen did discover America ... the Rabida museum will prove of extraordinary interest to visitors. Here is a chart showing the course followed by Erikson in his voyage from Greenland to the coast of Massachusetts. It was prepared under the direction of the late Professor E. N. Horsford, of Cambridge, who has done more than any one else to establish the Norse claim. In brief the story is that Eric the Red, an outlaw, established a colony in Greenland in 984. In 986 a viking named Bjarne, while seeking the Greenland colony, was driven by northeasterly gales as far south as Nantucket. On returning to Norway he sold his ship to Lief Erikson, son of Eric the Red, who set sail with a crew of thirty-five men and found the lands which Bjarne had described. Lief returned to Greenland in the spring, when his brother Thorwald took the ship and went to Vinland (Massachusetts) there remaining three years. He was killed by Indians and buried near Fall River, with crosses to mark his grave.

In 1836 there was exumed near Fall River a skeleton clad in broken armor, which was made the subject of one of Longfellow's most beautiful poems, "I Was a Viking Old." The remains were thought to have been those of an Indian until Professor Rafn, a Scandinavian, pronounced them those of a Norse chief and insisted that the burial place of Thorwald Erikson had been discovered. We find here charts of these voyages, more or less imaginative, and also pictures of the sites of the villages which the Norsemen are said to have established near Boston. A picture of the old mill at Newport, R. I., suggestive of the ... chain of evidence welded by the supporters of the Norse theory, now, alas, broken; for while it was claimed the old mill afforded proof of the occupation of New England by the vikings, subsequent investigations have shown that it was erected by Governor Arnold, of Rhode Island, for a windmill some time between 1670 and 1680, and is a copy of a tower of a mill at Chesterton, England, whence Arnold had come to America.

There are other pictures, manuscripts and printed books bearing on the viking theory of discovery, among them facsimiles of inscriptions on the Dighton rock, near Taunton, Mass., said to have been carved by the Norsemen. But these inscriptions are now believed to have been executed by the Algonquin Indians. Mr. Curtis shows a facsimile of an old saga or manuscript written in Iceland 400 years after the discovery by Erikson, and making allusion to that discovery. A picture is given of the Lief Erikson monument in Boston, which also has a duplicate in Boston.

In the old convent we find an alleged portrait of Kublai-Kahn, Emperor of Mongols, who is said to have visited America in the thirteenth century under the command of his son. A number of books have been printed to show that America was discovered by the Chinese and Mongols, who occupied Mexico and Peru. Notwithstanding all these claims or theories it was Columbus who made the western world known to Europe and brought the new continent under the domain of civilization. It is somewhat ... that Mr. Curtis ... Columbian researches, could not find a portrait of the discoverer that is supported by credible evidence, though he was able to find an authentic portrait of Marco Polo, the famous Venetian traveler, who visited China and India in 1298 and first made those countries known to the people of Europe. It was Polo's description of these ... nearly two hundred years later, a desire to sail to Cathay (China) by the western route. The copy of Marco Polo read by Columbus and carried with him on his voyages was printed in Latin at Antwerp in 1485, and is still preserved in the Columbian library at Seville, with many marginal notes in his own handwriting.

THE CARAVELS AND VIKING SHIP.

armor, costume and relic. The history of Columbus himself it illustrates with seven or eight hundred pictures, manuscripts, facsimiles, relics, models, etc. Here is the house in Genoa in which Columbus is believed to have been born, the university at which he was taught Latin and geography, the church in which he was married, the house in which he lived at the Madeira islands, with ... windows and other articles from the ... views of Rabida in Spain, paintings of Columbus with his son at the gate of the convent begging bread, portrait of Father Perez, who was Columbus' friend, a dozen pictures of Columbus before the Council of Dominicans at Salamanca, endeavoring to make the wise men believe in the rotundity of the earth, a favorite topic of the artists; several paintings of Columbus as he appeared before the court of Isabella; Heaton's picture of the recall of Columbus—that recall which took him back to court after his request for assistance had been denied and finally sent him forth on his memorable journey; portrait of Santangel, who was treasurer of the fund appropriated to pay the expenses of the voyage, variously estimated at from $3,000 up to $7,000, certainly not a large sum for Isabella to raise by pawning her jewels.

Nearly a hundred paintings, relics and manuscripts are shown here as having been associated with the voyage of discovery, the voyage of the three caravels which are anchored in Lake Michigan near the walls of the convent. The record starts with Columbus taking leave of his faithful friend, Father Perez, in the Rabida, and follows with his departure from Palos. It is an interesting coincidence, worthy of the attention of the superstitious, that the contract between Columbus and the sovereigns was signed on Friday; discovered land on Friday; set sail homeward on Friday, and reached Palos on Friday.

There are pictures showing the mutiny at sea, Columbus on the deck of his ship, and finally, and most interesting than all others, the "discovery of land" and the discovery of America. Mr. Curtis gives many pictures of Watlings Island, Bahamas, the island on which Columbus set up his royal standards and to which he gave the name San Salvador. Most of these pictures were made by the expedition which the Chicago Herald sent to the Bahamas two years ago to determine if possible the spot on which Columbus ... The expedition decided on the eastern coast of Watlings as the scene of the landfall, and the investigations which the Columbian commissioner, Mr. F. A. Ober, subsequently made, confirmed the correctness of this decision. Geographers and historians the world over now accept Watlings as the San Salvador of Columbus and the Guanahani of the natives. Mr. Ober, whose official duty it was to follow Columbus from the port of Palos throughout his first voyage, has published a handsome book called "In the Wake of Columbus," which is well worth reading; and Mr. Blaney, a noted artist of Boston, has made a beautiful etching of the very spot at which the discovery took place, and which was appropriately marked through the enterprise of a Chicago newspaper.

Among many interesting Columbian relics to be found here is an anchor lost from the Santa Maria on the coast of Hayti, Christmas eve, 1492. There is little or no doubt of its authenticity, and was found by Mr. Ober after a long search, Mr. Curtis having obtained a clue to its whereabouts.

We have also stone from the ruins of the city of Isabella, founded by Columbus on the shores of Santo Domingo, during his second voyage, and the first civilized settlement in America. Columbus built there a church, a public store house, known as the "King's Palace," and a residence for himself known as the "Governor's Palace." There were also a number of private houses, and we have a pile of stones, all that remains of the first city in the new world. Moreover, here is the identical bell, of ... eight inches high, that hung in the church at Isabella, and was therefore the first church bell in America.

Here are the precious original papers pertaining to Columbus and loaned by his descendant, the Duke of Veragua, including the original commission given to Columbus by Ferdinand and Isabella upon his departure for the first voyage, a number of royal letters patent to the discoverer, many autograph letters of Columbus, and the original of his will.

Incongruities In a Modern Story.

In a recent sketch a man in the gallery saw the woman he loved in a box at the opera wearing a cloak "white as snow" in one paragraph and "fleecy, pink and pale blue" in another on the same page. "From the height of his intellectual pride he bent his head and sent a winged caress fluttering down on that flowerlike face," then by a nice derangement of metaphors, "the man's soul swept across the sea of song with the heart of a lion and the wings of an eagle!"—Boston Transcript.

VIEWS! VIEWS!!

The W. E. Hook View Co.'s views are the best made. When buying views compare them with any other make. That is all we ask. You do the rest.

The best 5x8 views published 60c per dozen, 5c each straight, one or a hundred. No shop-worn, soiled views—all clean, bright and beautiful. This cut in price will be continued until the view makers arrange to restore the price of 5x8 views to the old price, viz: $1.50 per dozen. We will sell views in every city and town in the state, too, at 60c a dozen. We did not commence cutting the price on views, but propose now to take a hand in the business and put the price where it won't pay a cent to make them. We are ready at any time to arrange with the other view makers to return to the $1.50 rate; but until such times we are in the swim with the best views on earth at 60c per dozen. You can have 10,000 clean, bright views to select from. Our Colored Photographs in every size and style are superior to all others and 33 per cent less in price. The most important view dealers in this locality handle our work: The Consolidated Stationery Co., Q. J. Wellington, at College Book Store; Raymond Reed, Postoffice Book Store; Kirschner's Fur Store, Pike's Peak avenue; A. M. Swain, Pike's Peak avenue; G. Farmington, Cheyenne Canon; E. L. Rice, Garden of the Gods; Chas. W. Grant, Manitou; or at headquarters, 500 North Tejon, Colorado Springs. We have the finest studio in the city, and will make you the best cabinet portraits at $1.50 per dozen, and will not ask you for money until you are satisfied. "That's business;" come and see our work.
